Donor Speak – Celebrating Changepreneurs

Kishore Shah – USA – “During my last visit to Mumbai in January 2019, I had a chance to meet members of LOLT and learnt more about LOLT’s work and projects. It was an interesting meeting, and I decided to visit nearby local sites to get the real experience. Later, I visited their nearby project sites at Karjat, Maharashtra. During this visit, I was very impressed with the interaction I had with the children and teachers at the Anando Center, Jagruti Center and Computer Training Center. LOLT’s team members were also very knowledgeable and co-operative. This was my first site visit and it helped me understand how the projects are run. I am grateful to LOLT for the time they have spent on this. The entire experience helped me in making my decision to support LOLT – Anando Center at Yawatmal District of Maharashtra.”

Mahesh Kaul – Germany – I donate and will regularly donate to the Life of Trust for the great job they are doing on the rural front in India specially for the underprivileged young men and women. This non-profit organisation understands the real need to break the generational gap and bring the vast

(I call it hidden in the backyards of India) talents to the forefront by giving them (almost) equal chances. I thank all the Life of Trust Team back home in India for doing this great job and wish them all success for the future.

Premal Sanghvi – Mumbai – My name is Premal Sanghvi and I deal in art. LOLT has been an integral part of my donation programme as I have faith in the work they are doing that of giving dignity, peace, healing and above all, love to all sections of society with immense dignity.

Ravi Shivdasani - I have worked closely with LOLT and have also been a donor to their many projects. It is an organization that DOES make a difference. The team works with complete integrity and honesty to uplift the lot of many deserving but destitute children whose path in life has been restricted by limiting circumstance. LOLT manages to sweep in and literally be the wind beneath their wings. The LOLT team works with what can only be termed a spiritual zeal under the gentle and compassionate guidance of Villy Doctor. I laud and applaud their achievements and always wish them the best in all their endeavours....

Meenakshi Khosla - (President Inner wheel club of Mulund 2021-22) I have known LOLT for a few years and sincerely admire the kind of work they are doing. Every child supported by us is the ones who would have probably dropped out of secondary school. Hats off to the impact they create. May they reach out to many more such ... Good Luck.

Dr. Vivek Mendonsa – With the pandemic all around people are losing their jobs, things looking despair, the LIGHT OF LIFE TEAM - have been positive, up-beat, finding new ways to meet their funding goals and not letting down the beneficiaries of Light of Life Trust Work. I admire them. Wishing Villy Doctor and Team continued success.

Digital Learning with Tablets

With the coronavirus pandemic and subsequent national lockdown declared in India since March 2020, we have all faced an unprecedented situation having widespread consequences. Children have suffered the most with schools and colleges being closed indefinitely and exams suspended. As online education became the life line for continued learning, urban children quickly adapted to it.

Since LOLT's beneficiary children are from rural India the problem compounded with no access to devices and connectivity for continued learning. To surmount these challenges LOLT chose the path of Digital Learning by providing tablets to the children, which had Academic and Personality development, AV and text content loaded on them, thereby eliminating the need for internet connectivity. Children were divided into village-wise small study groups and each tablet was used by 5 children. A total of 267 tablets have been distributed to our SSC students benefitting about 1100 beneficiaries.

The team re-designed teaching – learning methods in order to reach to maximum students and also equipped themselves to execute the necessary tasks.
